Showing Up for Kids at Concord Market Days

At Concord Market Days in New Hampshire, SCAN connected with more than 350 community members to raise awareness about the need for greater investment in early learning. Volunteers collected 50 petition signatures and six postcards in support of Head Start, helping to amplify local voices and encourage lawmakers to prioritize kids.

Building Community Connections in Orangeburg

Tara Davis of the South Carolina Family Engagement Team recently attended the Orangeburg Rural Accelerator Initiative partner meeting with Save the Children and other community partners. In the meeting they discussed the next steps to help move forward the mission, and community work in Orangeburg County.

Tara also joined a partner meeting with the Orangeburg Community Impact Initiative to plan upcoming community events. The team will take part in a Back to School Bash and a Community Health Fair and Back to School Giveaway hosted with Orangeburg Family Health Center. These events will serve as key opportunities to raise awareness about SCAN, the Family Engagement program, and the critical issues they advocate for, including early learning and child nutrition.

Advocating for Kids at Denmark's Wellness Bash

In Denmark, South Carolina, Volunteer Leader Kimberly Williams represented SCAN at the "Mauri 4 the Win Foundation's 3rd Annual Teen & Community Wellness Bash." With more than 10 public health agencies and community organizations in attendance, Kimberly engaged over 20 attendees in conversations about the importance of advocating for children and getting involved with SCAN. She called the event an overwhelming success, highlighting the strong community interest in making a difference for kids.

Lucky4Love: One Girl's Mission to Spread Luck and Love Across Borders

At just 8 years old, Henley (now 11) turned a spark of compassion into a powerful force for good. After a family trip to Honduras opened her eyes to the hardships children face in communities affected by poverty, Henley returned home with a mission: to help.

Combining creativity with heart, she launched Lucky4Love, a personal fundraiser built around her knack for finding four-leaf clovers, a symbol of hope and luck. With the help of her family and friends, she began handcrafting bookmarks, keychains, and even painting seashells, adding heartfelt messages to each piece. Her sisters, Adair (11) and Meadow (10) joined the cause helping drive new fundraising ideas, traffic, and support, initially with brownies and lemonade. The trio transformed their neighborhood stand into a true community movement.

In 2024, Henley raised an incredible $1,608 for Save the Children, surpassing her previous fundraising goal of $1,300—all before turning 11. Through her thoughtful work, she continues to raise awareness and funds for children in Honduras and beyond, showing that age is no limit when it comes to making a difference.

Henley and her sisters plan on hosting her next fundraiser this summer in August.

Henley's story is an example of the power of empathy, action, and the belief that even small hands can build a better world.
